

Want

▲ SUNGOD ULTRAS

Founded in 2013 by husband and wife, Ali and Zoe Watkiss, SunGod has quickly built a reputation as one of the world's leading eye-wear brands. They're all about innovative, durable, stylish sunglasses. And nothing says innovative, durable, and stylish quite like their latest offering: the Ultras.

The first sunglasses SunGod has made specifically for runners, the Ultras are perfect for exploring trails, pounding the streets, and heading into the mountains.

For starters, they weigh in at just 26g, so you'll barely notice them when you're out running. Then there's what SunGod calls 8KO nylon lens technology. Described as 'the most advanced lens technology on the planet', the 2mm nylon lenses are also treated with a triple-layer, scratch-resistant coating. Put it this way: you get a pair of sunnies capable of taking on even the toughest of trails.

Another clever feature is what's known as Adventureproof plastic. This means the Ultras are flexible to a point, while the screwless poplock joints keep the temples firmly attached when you're wearing them. Great for anyone after a combination of stability and bounce-free comfort, whatever the terrain.

The Ultras are fully customisable, too — choose your lens, frame, icon colour, and earsock (the bits at the end of the temple) at no extra cost. You then get a choice of four nose grips in the box to ensure the best possible fit.

And just when you thought these sunglasses couldn't get any better, SunGod's Lifetime Guarantee means you're able to get them repaired for free, forever. Even if it's you that breaks them!

These bad boys are most definitely a 'want' when it comes to adventure gear, so get yourself a pair of Ultras for your next run.

RRP £130 | sungod.co